The in-wheel motor is arranged at a wheel side and is mounted to a wheel side member, or is arranged at a hub side and is mounted to a hub side member. There has been known an example of an in-wheel motor provided with a structure in which a hub side member is mounted to a hub with a separate fastening member (for example, see Patent Document 1). An in-wheel motor described in Patent Document 1 includes a pair of first mounting members each fixed to an inner peripheral surface of a wheel side member, a hub-side flange (hub-side bearing) fixed to the hub, and a second mounting member fixed to the hub-side flange. The hub-side bearing is arranged in the wheel side member. 1d6a3396d6
